JEWELL CONFERS WITH HARDING; BROTHERHOODS ASK CONFERENCE

TRAINMEN, ENGINEERS AND FIREMEN ASK CONFERENCE WITH PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—B. M. Jewell, head of the striking railroad shop workers; W. J. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists; and James P. Neenan, president of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, re-opened negotiations today with President Harding in the railroad strike.

The union leaders after an hour's conference left the White House under restraint of a presidential request to maintain silence as to the matters under consideration, but all three expected to remain in Washington for at least a day or two. It was indicated that the issues in the strike had again been gone over.

The president later in the day had an appointment with legislative representatives of three of the four brotherhoods, whose members are not now on strike and whose chiefs have indicated a desire to make formal protest against the conditions of bad repair which they claim are affecting railroad equipment.

CLEVELAND, O., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Heads of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen today were awaiting a reply to a telegram they sent to Washington last night requesting President Harding to meet with legislative representatives of the brotherhoods so that they can lay before him the critical situation resulting from the stoppage of the strike.

It is pointed out that discontent is rapidly growing among the membership of the three organizations and it is the belief of the leaders that unless the strike is settled the brotherhoods will inevitably be drawn into the controversy.

When the shopmen's strike was called, the men were authorized not to take out any unsafe equipment, unless they secured waivers of responsibility from the superintendents of the terminal.

Since then, the brotherhood chiefs declare, they have received hundreds of complaints from their members that demands have been made on the men to take out locomotives and equipment which are in a dangerous and unsafe condition. The men also claim that they have been subjected to abuse and assaulted by armed guards employed by the railroads.

Switchmen's Union Also Asks For Conference

CLEVELAND, O., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Switchmen's Union of North America today joined the three local transportation brotherhood chiefs in requesting a conference with President Harding for the purpose of presenting to the president their views on the rail strike situation. The three Cleveland brotherhood leaders wired the president last night seeking such a conference.

T. C. Cashen, president of the switchmen's union, today telegraphed D. C. Robertson, president of the locomotive firemen and enginemen, asking that the Washington legislative representative of the firemen, who with the legislative representatives of the engineers and trainmen, is seeking to arrange the meeting with the president for their chiefs, also represent the switchmen. Mr. Robertson wired his Washington representative to act also for the switchmen.

OFFER EMPLOYEES SENIORITY RIGHTS

NEWBURN, N. C., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Norfolk & Southern Railway is willing to accept the proposals of President Harding, guaranteeing seniority rights to striking employees as a basis for the settlement of the shopmen's strike, says a letter addressed to its former employees by F. P. Pelter, general manager of the road.

"There are no matters in controversy between this railroad and its employees which can not be settled in absolute accord with the basis outlined by President Harding," said Mr. Pelter in his letter.

CONDUCTORS DID NOT JOIN IN REQUEST

CEDAR RAPIDS, IOWA, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Order of Railway Conductors did not join with the other railroad brotherhoods in a request to President Harding for a conference at which they might present their views on the strike, and will not, according to L. E. Sheppard, president of the organization, today.

"We have no evidence we wish to submit to the president," he said. "If the president wants our advice, he will summon us."

Mr. Sheppard telegraphed the Washington representatives of the conductors to take no part in the proceedings. He said there was no strike threat in the message to the president.

Want Strike Of Maintenance Men

WILKESBARE, PA., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Word was awaited today by William D. Roberts, vice president of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees, from President E. F. Grable at Detroit as to his proposal for a sympathetic strike being called to support the striking shopmen.

Mr. Roberts announced last night that he and E. L. Enke, a member of the union executive board, had wired recommendation to Mr. Grable, proposing such action.

The vice president said he believed that all railroad organizations should come to the aid of the shopmen, "in view of the attitude adopted by managers of the certain eastern railroads."

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Enke hold jurisdiction on 28 eastern railroads from the New York, Ontario and Western on the north to the Baltimore and Ohio on the south.

Activities Renewed In Strike Orders

CHICAGO, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Comparative calm, prevalent in the rail strike situation several days, today gave way to renewed activities both for ending the six-weeks' old walk-out and for making it more effective. New peace conferences were pending in Washington, new strike threats came from maintenance of way men and other workers and a conference with President Harding was sought by the big four brotherhoods for the purpose of presenting their views of the strike.

William D. Roberts, vice president of the maintenance of way men's union, and E. L. Enke, member of the brotherhood executive board, telegraphed President E. F. Grable last night recommending a sympathetic strike of maintenance of way men of the eastern roads.

Weekend Crows Refuse To Answer Shop Workers Sent To Coal Roads

Three detachments of shop workers were sent by eastern railroads to the Chesapeake & Ohio, Norfolk & Western and Virginian railroads for use in handling shop work for trains in the coal mining districts.

A bill introduced in the United States senate by Senator Spencer of Missouri, would establish a new federal court of conciliation for settlement of disputes between employers and employees.

Of course you recognize Doug, with clenched fist, and Mary Pickford, sister of the groom, with her sunny smile. On Mary's left is the bride and her hubby. The youngster is "Little Mary," daughter of Lottie Pickford, and behind her is "Ma" Pickford. Directly behind Mary Pickford is Charlie Chaplin, but minus his mustache and cane.

France Orders Penalties Imposed On Germany

PARIS, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Premier Poincare at noon today notified the German embassy at Paris that the first of a series of measures to conserve French interests against a lapse in Germany's pre-war debt payments would be put into effect immediately.

The notice followed the receipt of a note from Germany refusing to meet the 2,000,000 pounds installment of these payments to French citizens due August 15.

The first of the French measures consists in the immediate suspension of all payments to German nationals for debts contracted with Frenchmen before the war, both in France and Alsace-Lorraine. The offices in Paris and Strasbourg, which were set up to liquidate these debts, were notified to cease functioning at once and to pay no more German claims until further orders from the premier.

The initial measures also include the suspension of all further payments to Germans for German property sequestered in France. This property includes estates, villas, art collections, etc.

The agreement, reached at Baden-Baden, under which Germans were being compensated for the house furnishings, stocks and bonds and cash left in Alsace and Lorraine, also is suspended.

It was explained at the foreign office that these first measures taken are not penalties in the strictest sense of the word, but merely action to safeguard the French interests have been jeopardized by the Germans refusing to pay.

REED'S NOMINATION IS ASSURED; OPPONENTS MAY RUN CANDIDATE

ST. LOUIS, MO., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—With the nomination of United States Senator James A. Reed assured, the St. Louis Post Dispatch today publishes an article that a movement is afoot by anti-Reed Democrats to bring out an independent candidate to oppose him at the November election. Should this materialize, the race for the senatorial seat would be a three-cornered one.

ST. LOUIS, MO., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Politicians today agreed that U. S. Senator James A. Reed had won the senatorial nomination over Breckinridge Long, his plurality in Tuesday's primary being the only matter of doubt.

Sixty-eight precincts still were missing late last night with Senator Reed in the lead by 5,077 votes. Mr. Reed in a statement given the Associated Press last night before his departure for Washington, intimated his confidence he had won.

Senator Reed will be opposed by R. R. Brewster, who has won the Republican nomination by a plurality of approximately 30,000.

Those familiar with Missouri politics look for a heated contest next November based on the prohibition issue. Mr. Brewster has declared himself as "dry" as the eighteenth amendment, while Senator Reed has been regarded as "wet."

Bitter Fight In Democratic Party

OKLAHOMA CITY, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Whether the Oklahoma sector of the "solid south" in so far as the state administration is concerned will remain unbroken, after the most bitter division in the Democratic party in the history of the state over the selection of a gubernatorial nominee, was the outstanding consideration raised with the result of last Tuesday's primary decided.

The Ku Klux Klan, religious feeling and vital economic issues divided the Democrats in choosing a standard bearer.

Guerrilla Fighting Resentment In Coal Mine District

ROME, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Guerrilla fighting of a bitter character between the Communists and Fascists continued today throughout the Labyrinth of Genoa's narrow winding streets. A fierce engagement between the Fascist and Communist clubs, two were killed and many on both sides were wounded.

The Fascists had evacuated the municipal building at Milan and all were hoping peace would soon return when from a window in the building of the Socialist newspaper Avanti! gestures of scorn and mockery were made to the Fascists. The latter thereupon furiously attacked the building, which they entered and partly wrecked. They were finally ejected by royal guards. The number of casualties is not yet known.

Kills Wife—Then Self

MANCHESTER—Harry Snyder, 34, shot and killed his wife, 23, as she was reading a newspaper, then shot and killed himself.

Kentucky Holding Primary

LOUISVILLE, KY., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Kentucky voters in five of the state's eleven congressional districts today balloted for candidates to go on the ballots of the two major political parties at the November election. In the other six districts there were no contests on either side.

It was expected that a heavy vote would be polled by the Republicans in the third and tenth districts, where there have been bitter fights among the candidates.

In the third district, R. M. Ames, a member of the state legislature and one of the candidates who was reported to have withdrawn, was arrested during the week on a warrant sworn to by Marmaduke Howlen, another candidate, charging him with accepting money from W. O. Meats, the third candidate in the race, with which to influence votes. Ames got back into the race after his arrest and has been making an active campaign.

In the tenth district John W. Lungeley, veteran congressman, is being opposed vigorously by Fess Whitaker, of Letcher county. In this district, F. Tom Hatcher and K. L. Varney are seeking the Democratic nomination. This is the first time in years that a Democrat stood for nomination in this district.

CHINESE CITY HARD HIT BY DISASTER; HARBOR FULL OF DEAD BODIES

HONG KONG, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Full reports of the disastrous typhoon which swept Swatow, 250 miles north of here with estimated loss of five thousand lives, and great property damage, August 2, were awaited here today. Foreign warehouses were demolished by the storm. Two British steamers were swept ashore and their cargoes, it is believed, will be loot for pirates before they can be salvaged.

Swatow is a port of 50,000 to 60,000 inhabitants at the mouth of the Han, near the eastern border of the province of Kwantung.

The typhoon was the worst in the history of that city. Dead bodies are floating amid the wreckage everywhere in the harbor. Nearly every house in the city was damaged. A flood following the wind drove inhabitants from their homes.

Optimism Over Future Of Motorless Flying

CLERMONT, FERRAND, France, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Optimism over the future of motorless flying prevails at Camp Moulard, where the "glider" contests under the auspices of the first international experimental congress of motorless airplanes will begin tomorrow to continue until August 20.

The builders, pilots and officials are sanguine that machines propelled by man power or merely by the wind are destined to make as much progress in the next 20 years as the gasoline-motored planes have achieved since the Wright brothers made their test flights at Kitty Hawk, N. C.

A pessimistic note, however, was struck by a French peasant harvesting in a nearby field, who practically repeated the words ascribed to two Ohio farmers upon reading of the Wright brothers' first short hops. One farmer as he scanned the big headlines, in the newspaper he had just taken from a rural mail box, declared with finality, "No man will ever fly like a bird," and the other echoing the sentiment with, "And if a man ever does, he won't sail from Dayton, Ohio, by heck."

What the French peasant said after watching a machine fly for four minutes, was "it can not be done," and, prodding his team of oxen, he lumbered away.

Steel Plants Forced To Close, No Coal

YOUNGSTOWN, O., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—All departments of the Farrell, Pa., works of the Carnegie Steel Company, except one blast furnace, will close down tonight for an indefinite period, throwing 1,200 men out of work. Coal shortage is given as the reason. In the company's announcement. The suspension involves two blast furnaces.

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company will shut one blast furnace, close its Bessemer department, one blooming mill and two open hearth furnaces. The Republic Iron & Steel Company will close three open hearth furnaces and two bar mills.

Sheet production will be maintained at the present high level during next week, and finishing mills will also operate at about the same capacity as this week.

Twelve blast furnaces now have been put out of production by the fuel crisis, leaving only 14 operating out of the 47 in this district. Ten open hearth furnaces of the independent mills here have been closed, and the two Bessemer plants, cutting steel ingot production materially.

Close on the heels of the Carnegie announcement came statements from two independent mills in Youngstown that units employing 1,500 men would close tonight.

Treaties Sanctioned

TOKIO, August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Crown Prince Hirohito, regent, today officially sanctioned the treaties to which Japan was a party at the arms conference at Washington. This completes Japan's action on the treaties with the formal exchange of ratifications at Washington.

Slain In Resisting Negro Hold-Up Men

COLUMBUS, O., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Robert M. Wilkins died in a hospital here early today as a result of being shot last night when he and his brother, William, resisted the attempts of three negro hold-up men to rob them. In an endeavor to rob them, Wilkins was shot in the right shoulder, the bullet taking a downward course. His brother was unhurt, as the negroes fled immediately following the shooting. The two men had stopped along the roadside to fix a spark plug when they were approached by the thugs.

Earlier in the evening the same trio of negroes staged two other hold-ups.

Troops Guard Jail, Negro Prisoners

RALEIGH, N. C., August 5.—(By the Associated Press)—A detachment of 45 men from two companies of the North Carolina national guard including 20 machine gunners, still stood guard early today at the state prison here, where three negroes are held following their arrest in connection with the shooting yesterday morning of E. F. Ketchens, of Miami, Florida, and an attack on his wife, near Southern Pines, N. C.

Mr. Ketchens, who was en route with his wife and child by automobile from Miami to New York, and had camped on the road, when their tent was invaded by three negroes early yesterday, was believed today to have a good chance of recovery from the wounds inflicted by the assailants. He was wounded in the breast and was unable to assist his wife when she was pursued by the negroes.

TENNIS RESULTS

An important ruling in regard to tennis championships in Portsmouth was made yesterday at a meeting of the executive committee of the Portsmouth Tennis Association. Should a team win in tennis doubles or an individual win in singles one year they will not be eligible to participate in the next season's tourney. After the tourney is over the winner of the previous year may challenge the new champion to a special match. This is a national custom in tennis tournaments.

As far as this rule in regard to boys' and girls' singles and doubles is concerned, it is almost a dead letter, as the boy or girl who wins the championship is almost sure to grow out of his or her class, and be over-

SCIOTO COUNTY FAIR TO BE RECORD MAKER

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week are expected to be the biggest days ever recorded in the history of Scioto County Fairs. Directors of the Scioto County Agricultural Society and others interested are earnest in their predictions that this the twenty-eighth annual fair of Scioto county is to be a record breaker. They base their predictions on the fact that many persons have made a request for premium books and have inquired of display space.

The "show" part of the fair is sure to be bigger than ever for many farmers in this county and other outside the county who have not been exhibiting anything at the fair have signified their intention of being on hand this year with splendid exhibits and displays. An example of the interest being taken in the stock exhibit is shown by the fact that 55 head of sheep are already on the grounds with several more big herds coming. More registered or pure bred stock will be shown this year. Scioto county farmers taking an active part in a campaign for better stock. The entertainment features are also extraordinary, eight free vaudeville acts being on the program for each day. In addition to the concert acts there will be wire walkers and jugglers, acrobats, a minstrel show and a jazz band direct from Chicago. This band promises six hours of music daily. There will also be one or two Grange bands. An eight passenger airplane will be near the fair grounds to take up passengers. There will also be horseshoe pitching contests, Boy Scout first aid for injured demonstrations, and then the races on the last three days. On Wednesday there will be a 2:20 trot and 2:30 pace and the County race. On Thursday there will be the Free-For-All, 2:30 trot and 2:30 pace. On Friday the race program will include a 2:24 pace, 2:25 trot and a Shetland pony race. The trots and paces will be for purses of $300 while the County race purse is $100 and the pony race a neat sum. One new well has been drilled giving the grounds two fine wells of sparkling cool water. The Directors also want to make it plain that the parking field for automobiles is in the best condition. The roads in the field have been graveled and with the hardest of rain there will not be a repetition of the mud of last year. The general admission prices will be 50 cents for adults, 25 cents for children and fifty cents for automobiles entering the main grounds. The parking field south of the grounds will be free.

N. & W. Shops At Bluefield Busy With Sixteen U. S. Deputy Marshals On Guard

The Wheeling Intelligencer carried the following dispatch yesterday from Bluefield:

"The strike situation in Bluefield and adjacent territory remains much the same except there has been, during the past 24 hours, additional men brought in for work in the Norfolk & Western shops here and there seems to be an improvement in conditions at the local shops.

"This morning 20 men arrived to go to work in place of striking shopmen, which brings the total number of men imported during the past 72 hours to about eighty.

"The Norfolk & Western railway steel car repair plant here, which has been idle since July 1, was started up today and it is said with practically 100 per cent of force at work.

"Sixteen deputy United States marshals arrived here this morning to enforce the provisions of the injunction recently issued by Judge George W. McClintic in case there is any tendency on the part of strikers to violate it, but neither railroad officials or union heads expect any trouble."

DAMAGE SUIT SEQUEL OF COLLISION

The Gunning Clear Co., by its attorneys, Marshall and Phillips, Saturday, began suit for damages against Mannie Levi. The defendant lives in Zanesville. The plaintiff alleges that on July 2 last, its agent, Henry Lambert, while driving plaintiff's Dodge roadster in Waverly, was run into by a Buick coupe, "carelessly, negligently and recklessly" driven at "unreasonable speed" by an agent of the defendant, the roadster being damaged to the extent of $100.04 and being put out of commission for ten days, entailing a loss thereby of $100. The plaintiff therefore sues for $206.04.—Chillicothe Gazette.

Mr. Levi is well known here as he has many relatives and friends in Portsmouth. He was on his way to this city, when the accident occurred.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
A revolver shot was heard two minutes after ROBERT ABLETT, ne'er-do-well brother of MARK ABLETT, the bachelor proprietor of The Red House, had returned from his 15 years' absence in Australia and been ushered into Mark's office.
ANTHONY GILLINGHAM, a gentleman adventurer and friend of BILL REVERLEY, one of Mark's guests, arrived at that moment to find MATT CAYLEY, Mark's companion, pounding on the locked door of the office and demanding admittance. The two men entered the office through a window and on the floor found the body of Robert with a bullet through the head. Mark was not found.
Police Inspector Birch believes that Mark has murdered his brother, whose visit he anticipated with annoyance, but there are several points which arouse Anthony's suspicions.

Cayley invites him to remain over the night and Anthony informs Bill Beverly that "things are going to happen here soon."
GO ON WITH THE STORY
Cayley was walking across the lawn toward them, a big, heavy-shouldered man with one of those strong, clean-shaven, ugly faces which can never quite be called plain. Cayley nodded as he came to them, and stood there for a moment.
"We can make room for you," said Bill, getting up.
"Oh, don't bother, thanks. I just came to say," he went on to Anthony, "that naturally they've rather lost their heads in the kitchen, and dinner won't be till half-past eight. Do just as you like about dressing, of course."
Having said what he wanted to say, Cayley remained there a little awkwardly, as if not sure whether to go or to stay. Anthony wondered whether he wanted to talk about the afternoon's happenings, or whether it was the one subject he wished to avoid.

That Big Cold Drink
on the long hot day can be enjoyed without a quail if it be made cold with our absolutely pure ice. You can put the ice directly in the glass without fear. You can place it in direct contact with food, such as butter, etc., with perfect safety. Isn't that the kind of ice you want? Yes, our wagon will deliver any quantity.

THE STOCKHAM COMPANY

To break the silence he asked carefully if the inspector had gone. Cayley nodded. Then he said abruptly, "He's getting a warrant for Mark's arrest."
Bill made a spittingly sympathetic noise, and Anthony said with a shrug of the shoulders, "Well, he was bound to do that, wasn't he? It doesn't mean anything. They naturally want to get hold of your cousin, innocent or guilty."
"Which do you think he is, Mr. Gillingham?" said Cayley, looking at him steadily.
"Mark? It's absurd," said Bill impatiently.
"Bill's loyal, you see Mr. Cayley," and you owe no loyalty to anyone concerned?"
"Exactly. So perhaps I might be too frank."
Bill had dropped down on the grass, and Cayley took his place on the seat, and sat there heavily, his elbows on his knees, his chin on his hands, gazing at the ground.
"I want you to be quite frank," he said at last. "Naturally I am prejudiced where Mark is concerned. So I want to know how my suggestion strikes you—who have no prejudices either way."
"Your suggestion?"
"My theory that, if Mark killed his brother, it was purely accidental—as I told the inspector."
"Bill looked up with interest.
"Bill means that Robert did the hold-up business," he said, "and there was a bit of a struggle, and the revolver went off, and then Mark lost his head and bolted? That sort of idea?"
"Exactly."
"Well, that seems all right," he turned to Anthony. "There's nothing wrong with that, is there? It's the most natural explanation to anyone who knows Mark."
Anthony pulled at his pipe.
"I suppose it is," he said slowly. "But there's one thing that worries me rather."
"What's that?" Bill and Cayley asked the question simultaneously.
"The key," said Bill.
"The key?" said Cayley, looking at Anthony. "What about the key?" he asked.
"Well, there may be nothing in it; I just wondered. Suppose Robert was killed as you say, and suppose Mark lost his head and thought of nothing but getting away before anyone could see him. Well, very likely he'd lock the door and put the key in his pocket. He'd do it without thinking, just to gain a moment's time."
"Yes, that's what I suggest."
"Yes, that's all right, if the key is there. But suppose it isn't there?"
The suggestion, made as it were already an established fact, startled them both.
"What do you mean?" said Cayley.
"Well, it's just a question of where people happen to keep their keys. You go up to your bedroom, and perhaps you like to lock your door in case anybody comes wandering in when you're only got one sock and a pair of braces on. Well, that's natural enough. But downstairs people don't lock themselves in. It's really never done at all. Bill, for instance, has never locked himself into the dining-room in order to be alone with the sherry. On the other hand, all women, and particularly servants, have a horror of burglars, and if a burglar gets in by the window, they like to limit his activities to that particular room. So they keep the keys on the outside of the doors and lock the doors when they go to bed." He knocked the ashes out of his pipe, and added, "At least, my mother always used to."
"You mean," said Bill excitedly, "that the key was on the outside of the door when Mark went into the room?"
"Well, I was just wondering."
"Have you noticed the other rooms—the billiard-room, and library, and so on?" said Cayley.
"I've only just thought about it, while I've been sitting out here. You live here—haven't you ever noticed them?"
Cayley sat considering, with his head on one side.
"It seems rather absurd, you know, but I can't say that I have." He turned to Bill. "Have you?"
"Good Lord, no. I should never worry about a thing like that."

"I'm sure you wouldn't," laughed Anthony. "Well, we can have a look when we go in. If the other keys are outside, then this one was probably outside, too, and in that case—well, it makes it more interesting."
Cayley said nothing. Bill chewed a piece of grass, and then said, "Does it make much difference?"
"It makes it more hard to understand what happened in there. Take your accidental theory and see where you get to. No instinctive turning of the key now, is there? He's got to open the door to get it, and opening the door means showing his head to anybody in the hall—his cousin, for instance, whom he left there two minutes ago. If a man in Mark's state of mind, frightened to death lest he should be found with the body, going to do anything so foolhardy as that?"
"Oh, well, of course, if they are inside, then your original theory is probably the correct one. Having often seen them outside I just wondered—that's all."

"He needn't have been afraid of me," said Cayley.
"Then why didn't he call for you? He knew you were about. You could have advised him; Heaven knows he wanted advice. But the whole theory of Mark's escape is that he was afraid of you and of everybody else."
"Yes, I expect you're right," said Bill thoughtfully. "Unless he took the key in with him, and locked the door at once."
"Exactly. But in that case you have to build up a new theory entirely."
"You mean that it makes it seem more deliberate?"

"Yes; that certainly. But it also seems to make Mark out an absolute idiot. Just suppose for a moment that, for urgent reasons which neither of you know anything about, he had wished to get rid of his brother. Would he have done it like that? Just killed him and then run away? Why, that's practically suicide. No, if you really wanted to remove an undesirable brother, you would do it a little more cleverly than that."
"Cayley had been silent, apparently thinking over this new idea. With his eyes still on the ground, he said now:
"I hold to my opinion that it was purely accidental, and that Mark lost his head and ran away."
"But what about the key?" asked Bill.
"We don't know yet that the keys were outside."
"Oh, well, of course, if they are inside, then your original theory is probably the correct one. Having often seen them outside I just wondered—that's all."

"Even if the key was outside," went on Cayley stubbornly, "I still think it might have been accidental. He might have taken it in with him, knowing that the interview would be an unpleasant one, and not wishing to be interrupted."
"But he had just told you to stand by in case he wanted you; so why should he lock you out? Besides, I should think that if a man were going to have an unpleasant interview with a threatening relation, the last thing he would do would be to barricade himself in with him. He would want to open all the doors and say, 'Get out of it!'" Cayley was silent, but his mouth looked obstinate. Anthony gave a little apologetic laugh and stood up. "Well, come on, Bill," he said. "We ought to be stopping." He held out a hand and pulled his friend up. Then, turning to Cayley, he went on, "You must forgive me if I have let my thoughts run on rather."
"That's all right, Mr. Gillingham," said Cayley, standing up too. "You say that you're going up to the Inn now about your bag?"
Cayley nodded and turned to go into the house. Anthony took hold of Bill's arm and walked off with him in the opposite direction.
CHAPTER VII
THEY walked in silence for a little, until they had left the house and gardens well behind them. "Tell me something about Mark," said Anthony suddenly.

"What sort of things?"
"Well, never mind about his being your host, or about your being a perfect gentleman, or anything like that. Cut out the Manners for Men, and tell me what you think of Mark, and how you like staying with him, and how many rows your little house-party has had this week, and how you get on with Cayley, and all the rest of it."
Bill looked at him eagerly.
"I say, are you being the complete detective?"
"Well, I wanted a new profession," smiled the other.
"What fun! I mean," he corrected himself apologetically, "one oughtn't to say that, when there's a man dead in house, and one's host—" He broke off a little uncertainly.
"Well?" said Anthony. "Carry on, Mark."

Charles (Dick) Noel Will Make Ideal County Surveyor
Charles (Dick) Noel, Republican candidate for the nomination of County Surveyor, has made an aggressive campaign. His many friends are certain of his nomination. He has conducted a clean, and open fight, and has stamped himself as a safe and sane man for the place. That Mr. Noel is well qualified to fill the office, is shown from the following article that appeared in the Portsmouth Daily Times when he entered the race:

Chas. Noel, "Dick", as he is known to his friends, has entered the list of candidates for the nomination for County Surveyor at the Republican Primaries in August.
Mr. Noel is a thoroughly competent engineer having a varied and practical experience of twenty-five years. 1895-1898, after leaving school, he was employed in land surveying under the late W. H. W. Jenkins and in mapping and drafting under Filmore Musser.

Returning from Porto Rican service in the Spanish-American War with the Fourth Ohio Volunteer Infantry, he began the study of Engineering for which his graduation from the Portsmouth High School laid the foundation, and supplemented his studies with drafting and map making. In 1901 and 1902 he was an assistant with Greig D. Wolfe, in making the survey and plats for the Right of Way Map of the Norfolk and Western Railroad from Columbus to Kenova. For two years following he was successively masonry inspector, transitman and resident engineer for the Scioto Valley Traction Company under A. W. Jones of Chillicothe, continuing another year as Deputy Surveyor of Ross County under County Surveyor A. W. Jones and Len G. Walker, in charge of bridge and highway construction.

In 1905 he was in the employ of the South and Western Railroad Company, serving as transitman and resident engineer at Bristol, Va.-Tenn. He was assistant engineer in charge of construction in 1906 with The Clinchfield Coal Corporation of Virginia and Kentucky, and in 1907 was Assistant Division Engineer with the Carolina, Clinchfield and Ohio Railroad at Marion, North Carolina.
In 1908 and 1909 he was again with The Clinchfield Coal Corporation as an assistant engineer. The years 1910 and 1911 he spent at home in private engineering work, laying out subdivisions for real estate firms in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana, more than a thousand lots in all, serving for one year as trustee of Clay township. Going to Florida in 1912 he spent that and the following year in making road and land surveys on the west coast of Florida for The Peninsula Highlands Land Company. Since 1913 all his work has been in the vicinity of his home. He was engineer in charge of the Ohio Valley Traction extension to Ironton under Raymond D. York, for the Portsmouth Street Railroad and Light Co. He was a Deputy County Surveyor under John J. Harper, and at present is a Deputy Surveyor, in charge of construction and new surveys for state roads, under Arthur B. Harwood, County Surveyor.

Mr. Noel was born in Portsmouth. He attended the local schools in Clay township, supplementing this with four years in the city High School from which he graduated in 1895. He has always been a Republican and for twenty-six years since his majority, has given the party his loyal and active support. His ancestry have been Republicans since the organization of the party, his father, Isaac H. Noel, with his five brothers, were ever aggressive partisans and were prominent in party councils.

Mr. Noel is a man of sterling character, stalwart, fearless and progressive, and the experiences and educational equipment as above enumerated leaves no doubt that he possesses in an eminent degree the qualities required of a County Surveyor, charged as he now is under the law with the great responsibility of location and construction of the state and county highways.

Mr. Noel is married and resides on Scioto Trail in a home erected by him on the farm on which he was born and which has been the home of his ancestry for almost a century. His nomination and election as County Surveyor will give assurance of integrity and ability in a high degree in the office.

FIGURES VS. BANNERS

Promises and performances are sometimes entirely different. Mr. Patterson who is asking Scioto county Republicans for his THIRD term as state senator is out with large banners claiming to be a "Good Roads Man." Every sensible man is a "Good Roads Man." What Mr. Patterson has done for Scioto county in good roads is shown more clearly by the State Highway Department's records than by his "banners." Scioto county has three times as many people and pays about ten times as much taxes as Pike, and has about as many Republicans in one ward in Portsmouth as there are in the whole of Pike county, yet through the activity of Mr. Patterson and other "Good Roads Men" Pike county got over $90,000.00 from the state for good roads during 1919, 20, 21, while she only put up $19,000. She got nearly five dollars for every one she put up. During the same years Scioto county taxpayers had to put up nearly two dollars for every dollar they got from the state. They put up $650,000.00 and got $450,000.00. During the same time little Pike got $77,000 while big Scioto got $22,000 for repairs.

Mr. Patterson must mean that he is a "Good Roads Man" for Pike only.
Big Republican counties like Jackson, Scioto and Adams surely deserved the same treatment from a Republican state senator as would a small Democratic county.

Lawrence and Scioto counties have much in common. The A. P. highway for instance. Scioto has no candidate for state senator. Thomas A. Jenkins of Lawrence county, welcomes your support and will perform rather than promise.

NOTICE

I wish to announce to the voters of Scioto County that I am still soliciting their support for the nomination of County Commissioner on the Republican ticket.

I am not pledged in any way to any person, so will be able to act in accordance with my best judgment on any question that may occur. I was born and raised in Vernon Township; have always lived on the same farm, so am well known as to character and capability. Have done quite a bit of county road work and had no difficulty as to its acceptance.

I earnestly solicit your votes at the primary and will feel grateful for your support.

Agricultural Notes

EDITORIAL NOTE—The Times has arranged for an agricultural department in each issue of The Saturday Times. The articles will be written by an expert and we unhesitatingly advise their careful reading. They may be of great profit to you.

The annual summary of Farm Records in Scioto County has been completed and shows very clearly the financial trial many a farmer's gone through during the past year. As an average cash farm receipts have been reduced 27 per cent, while expenses have been reduced but 3 per cent on these farms. In the four years during which records have been kept 1921 was the first year when the whole group of men as an average failed to come out even. While a few men were able to make fairly satisfactory returns the average man failed by $334 to pay interest on his farm investment and received nothing except the living from their farm for their own labor.

Those few men who were able to show a profit during the past year were those who were following a solid conservative system of farming and keeping their expenses low. As has been the case every year since these records have been kept and analyzed, those men who have devoted their major energies to livestock keeping good stock and caring for them well have been the ones who have prospered best.

An effort was made when the records were summarized this year to find if the system of farming being followed by the most of the men was maintaining the fertility of the land. Consideration was taken of the crops produced, as to their yield and whether they were fed on the farm or sold. Data was also secured as to care taken of the manure whether it was returned at once to the soil or whether it was allowed to weather in a pile or in the yard and loose its plant food value. It was found that the average farmer of the county has an average of the past four years failed by 20 per cent to maintain his nitrogen supply in the ground. Those five men who have consistently, during the past four years, shown the best results as far as net returns are concerned have shown a net gain in nitrogen supply of their soil. Careful study of the farm records as to the methods followed which have resulted in building up the soil fertility of these most successful farms may be summarized in the following items:

1. They use more lime.
2. They use more fertilizer. The average man spends $1.86 annually per crop acre for fertilizer while those among the best 5 average $3.12.
3. They keep more stock, feed more of the crops on the farm and besides spend $452 annually more for feed than the average. This brings more plant food on the farm.
4. They grow more legumes, such as clover, soy beans and cow peas.
5. They take better care of their manure, keep it hauled out and don't allow the plant food to leach out of it in the barn lot or in a pile against the barn.

Good soil fertility practices are a very important part of profitable farm management and the farmer who ignores any of these means of increasing the productivity of his farm is thereby just so much decreasing the future earnings of his business.

Lentz Explains About "Harding" Endorsement

The Times received a telegram from Hon. John J. Lentz concerning the statement in an editorial published Thursday, in which it was stated that Mr. Lentz was for Harding in 1920. Mr. Lentz explains that the statements he made were made after the election, that he was for Governor Cox for president, but that when the election was over he felt the country should forget politics and rally behind the president. Mr. Lentz's telegram follows:

Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 5, 1922.

The Times, Portsmouth, Ohio—My attention has been called to your editorial wherein you say that I was openly for Harding in 1920. In the interest of fairness, and so your readers will have the truth, please correct this statement. I not only spoke for Cox in 1920, but was at San Francisco at his request and helped to nominate him.

What I said about the country standing back of Harding was immediately after the election, and this was also said by Governor Cox and other prominent Democrats.

JOHN J. LENTZ.

The Times has no desire to misrepresent Mr. Lentz or any other candidate and is glad that its attention was called to the error above mentioned. However the position of the Times is unchanged in so far as the senatorial race is concerned. It sees no reason why any Democrat should vote against a man with the distinguished and patriotic record of Senator Alcee Pomerene. Senator Pomerene should receive an overwhelming majority of Democratic votes in this city and county, as well as in the state.

Scioto County's Opportunity To The Republicans of Scioto County, Ohio

VOTE FOR
MARK A. CRAWFORD

FOR CONGRESS

As most of you know, I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Sixth District of Ohio. This district embraces the Counties of Scioto, Brown, Clermont, Adams, Highland and Pike, is practically 125 miles in length, and its eastern half is nearly 40 miles broad; so you can see that the making of a close personal campaign of the counties of this district, other than Scioto, is a great task, and has taken so much of my time that it has been, and is, impossible for me to see all the voters of my own county, as I would have liked to do.

Especially to those whom I have not seen, but to all, I take this means of calling your attention to the following facts and statement:—

Scioto County has about one third of the entire population of the Sixth District, a great part of its wealth, and practically 75 per cent of its industrial strength; however, it has now been sixteen years since a Scioto County citizen represented our district in Congress. My opponent, whose home is in Clermont County, very near Cincinnati, where there is little interest in the welfare of Scioto County and its citizens, is now serving his fourth consecutive term as our Congressman, and is asking for a fifth. During his incumbency he has drawn, that is, will have drawn by the 4th day of next March, a total compensation of $60,000.00, his mileage and franking privileges; yet I do not believe it can be said truly that there has been any betterment of special consequence obtained for this district through the medium of his efforts, or that his growth as a congressman has been commensurate with his long period of service, he having served one term longer than any other man who ever represented our District or any part of it in Congress.

These facts are admitted freely by the people of the other counties of the district, and, because of this and the general apathy of Sixth District Republicans, towards his candidacy for a fifth term under such circumstances, together with the general dissatisfaction with his candidacy which has arisen and spread throughout the various counties of the district, caused by friction due to duplicating, an unfilled promise of post office appointments. I have been able to build up in all the other counties in our district strong, active working organizations not excepting my own county, Clermont, where a Crawford-for-Congress Club was formed to advance my candidacy, and from which I have received a strong indorsement. A similar, but much larger "Club" was recently formed at Greenfield, in Highland County, where a like indorsement was given to add to the indorsement of the Republicans of this county.

It is therefore apparent that the Republicans of the other counties are now ready to send the Republican nomination for Congress to this end of the district; in brief, the situation is such that if I receive the loyal support of the Republicans of my own county, in next Tuesday's primary, I shall be not only nominated but nominated so overwhelmingly as to assure my election.

Renewing my pledge to you that, if nominated, I will do all in my power to be elected; if elected, I will discontinue the practice of law and other private business while in office, and will devote all my time, efforts and such ability as I have to the discharge of my official duties; that I will be present on roll-call; that I will vote Yes or No on all measures coming before the House during my incumbency; and that when Congress is not in session I will be found going about the district, talking with representatives of all classes, trades, crafts, businesses and professions, trying to ascertain the needs of my constituency, and will do my best to translate these needs into realities, assuring you of my gratitude for all courtesies extended me, thanking all who may support my candidacy, and pledging anew my loyalty to the highest ideals of Americanism, I am,

Sincerely yours,

CARMI THOMPSON FOR GOVERNOR

Col. Thompson is a Republican who makes no apology for his partisanship. He has implicit faith in his party principles as the foundation for a successful government for the whole people. He possesses every element of successful leadership, demonstrated in practical service in city, county, state and nation. He knows the needs of the people in every walk of life, because he has come up from the very humblest origin and has paused long enough in the successive stages of his career to share in their prosperity and pleasure, their adversity and sorrow. His mental qualifications, his business sagacity, his prudence and caution, his ability in statesmanship, his distinctly human characteristics and his staunch Republicanism are not a matter of experiment with the voters of Ohio. Without disparagement to any man who may aspire to the gubernatorial nomination, it should be patent to every voter of the state that the party would have an unusual standard bearer in Col. Carmi A. Thompson and one who could carry Ohio in this crucial year by an overwhelming majority.

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am married, have two children. My husband never wants me to go anywhere. He never makes over me and it seems all he cares for is for me to cook and keep his clothes clean. He says he loves me. Don't you think he should let me go away for a week? That is all I ask.

UNHAPPY WIFE
You make a great mistake to ask him if you can go. Tell him you are going and go. You or any other woman who is a faithful wife and good housekeeper should have a vacation. Many men are harsh in one way or another. The woman who is wise will ask for needed concessions and, if they are not granted, she will take them.

Dear Dolly—I am a girl 17 years old. Do you think I am too young to go with the boys? Could you tell me where I could get a job? My father and mother need my help.

S. E. N.
What you need is not a job but an education. Go to school and try to learn to use good English, to write and to spell. Perhaps I could get work for you during the rest of the summer if you would send me your name and address or telephone number. If you go with the right sort of boys I do not think you are too young to keep company with them once in a while.

Dear Miss Wise—Will you print this letter for the benefit of the Kentucky reader. I just came home a few days ago from Cincinnati where I spent two weeks in one of the best automobile schools in the U. S. A. If he will write or call on me I will give him full information about the school. R. Fraithier, 524 Prospect St.

Dear Miss Wise—I see in your columns where several widows desire situations as housekeepers to widowers or bachelors. Now I am a widower of quite long standing and I would like a housekeeper if I could get the right one without much family. I am a farmer, own my own farm and am engaged in truck farming.

LONESOME
I have this man's name and address.
Dear Dolly—As you have given so many others good advice I am coming to you for an answer. Are they going to wear oxfords or patent leather slippers this winter?

BLUE EYES
Patent leather slippers will not stand winter wear, but they will be good this fall. Oxfords are always safe.

Dear Dolly—Can you tell me why a young lady who has to go about a square and does not ride a street car or jitney carries a purse about the size of a suit case?
BLUE EYES
Do you think I am a mind reader? I could try to guess why she has to carry the purse but I do not know.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE
The trousseau of the American girl depends upon her own tastes and her parents' pocketbook. But in certain parts of Sweden a girl's wedding outfit is determined entirely by precedent. Unless she is able to provide a certain amount of linen, lingerie and clothing she is not eligible for matrimony. Usually a mother hands down a portion of her own wedding linen to her daughters.

The following item taken from a recent issue of the Ohio State Journal, Columbus, will be of interest to friends in this city:

"Announcement was made recently in Washington, D. C., of the marriage of Miss Esta N. Maybough, 99 Governor street, to Mr. Raymond M. Lovinier, 101 Warren street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. E. Davis. The bride is owner of the E. N. Maybough Electrical Garage Co., 70 Parsons avenue, Washington."

Mr. Lovinier was formerly a resident of Portsmouth, and was connected with a local automobile concern while in this city. His home is in Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. John Utz, Mr. and Mrs. George Loudner, and sons, Albert and Carl, of Weston, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Eckfeld, 8113 Walnut street, yesterday, leaving late in the afternoon to continue their two weeks motor trip.

Friends of Mr. Carl Heck will be pleased to learn of his marriage to Miss Alice Betts of Athens. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Betts of Athens, on Tuesday evening. The happy couple arrived here on Wednesday for a short visit with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel, Rosemount Road.

Mr. Heck served overseas during the war and on his return home located at Athens, where he met his charming bride, and where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Charles Vogel, Rosemount Road entertained Wednesday evening honoring her son an this bride, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Heck, of Athens, who were married on Tuesday evening with a delicious chicken dinner on their arrival for a few days' visit. The guests for the evening dinner included, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Wolfe, Mr. and Mrs. G. Wash Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Johnson, and son, Orville; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vogel, and his grandmother, Mrs. Anna Heck, with the guests of honor.

Later the party was joined by associate club members of Mrs. Vogel, who reside in Portsmouth. Games, music and social chat made the evening a pleasurable one.

The adorned wedding cake was cut and passed by the charming bride, and by a strange coincidence, the groom, Mr. Heck, received the dime, his young wife the ring, and his mother, Mrs. Vogel, the thimble, which caused a great deal of merriment. Cooling ice cream and cake were served to the following guests from

MRS. HATFIELD SABINA, OHIO

In Fittable Condition When She Began Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sabina, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my weakness and irregularity. I was weak and nervous and could hardly stand on my feet long enough to cook a meal. I was this way for about a year and had tried several medicines and had a physician, but to no avail. My sister was taking your medicine and finally induced me to try it. I now feel fine and can do my household work without any trouble at all. You can use this letter for the sake of others if you wish." — Mrs. WELDON G. HATFIELD, R. R. 3, Sabina, Ohio.

Housewives make a great mistake in allowing themselves to become so weak and nervous that it is well-nigh impossible for them to attend to their necessary household duties. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble.

Mrs. F. B. Winter and children, Bobbie and Willa Louise, of 720 Sixth street, who have been visiting at Lorain, O., and on Lake Erie, will return Monday after enjoying a six weeks' vacation.

Members of the Central L. T. L. and a number of guests enjoyed a delightful lawn party last night at the home of Nancy and George Beasley, 1817 Eighth street. Japanese lanterns were placed at vantage points about the lawn, and the fore part of the evening was devoted to songs and recitations.

Later, games and other amusements provided entertainment, after which Mrs. Beasley served delicious refreshments. Mrs. J. A. Cooper is leader of the League, and the members present included: Kemper Beasley, Howard Cooper, Charles Guilkey, Raymond Davis, Russell Summers, Dorothy, Ruth Ferguson, Henrietta Daniels, Clara Frances Price, Thelma Davis, Janet and Frances Nickle, Mildred Guilkey, Sara Summers, Agatha, Virginia and Mary Jane Baccus and Vergie Mussetter.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Winter and son Charles, Jr., and daughter Virginia, of New York City, have started by machine on their trip to this city, where they will visit relatives, according to word received by T. B. Winter, of 720 Sixth street.

Adventures Of The Twins

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

HELLO," said a voice when Nancy and Nick and the Magical Mushroom had landed in the middle of the Tinky-Winkle Star.

"Who are you and what do you want?"

"We're after Flap-Doodle, the purple fairy, who flies with his ears," said Nancy. "He stole the Fairy Queen's wand."

"Oh, ho!" answered the voice. "Well, he never told me a word about it." And a Chocolate Rooster came out of a coop made of sugar cookies, with a saucy strut.

"Oh, do you know him?" asked Nick eagerly.

"Well, I should say," answered the Rooster. "I'm his lord high counselor. He's the boss of this star, you know. In fact, I'm often mistaken for him, being so handsome and all, only I am orange instead of purple, and my ears are not quite so large and fine as his."

"Orange?" cried Nancy.

"First!" cried Nick. "Certainly!" the Chocolate Rooster assured them with dignity. "All Tinky-Winklers are orange-colored and have big ears to fly with. Are you blind, my dears?"

"No, but we think you are," Nancy couldn't help saying. "You're not orange, you're brown, and you're no ears at all!"

At this the Rooster looked down at himself in astonishment, and no sooner had his eyes spied his chocolate feathers than he let out a screech like a fire-whistle and a fog-horn rolled into one.

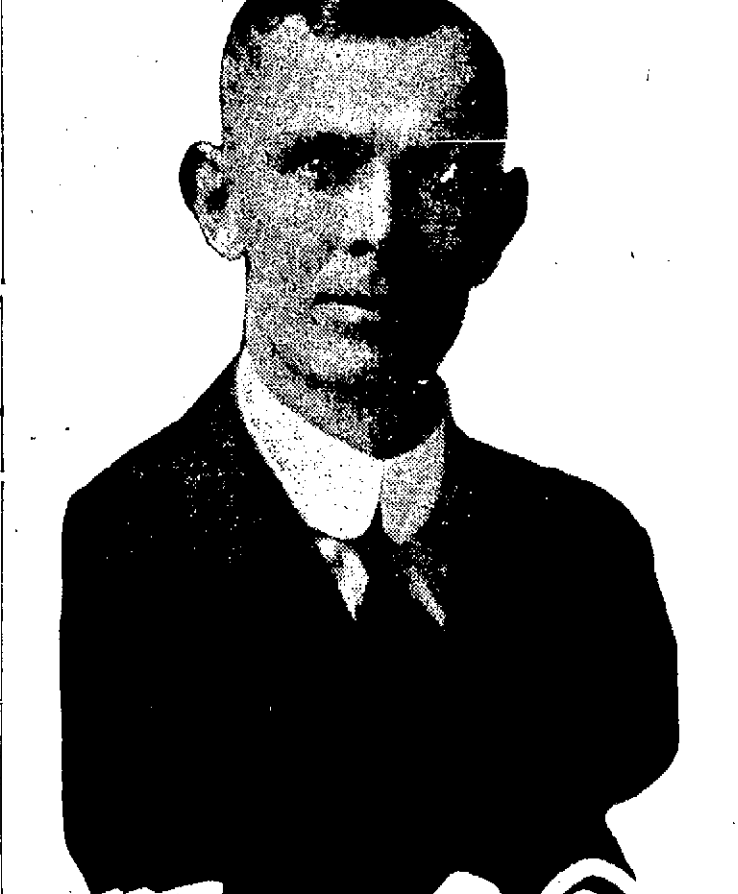

"Oh," he screamed. "This is an outrage. This isn't I! Someone has turned me into this creature, I'm not I at all!"

"I know," said Nick. "Flap-Doodle has the Fairy Queen's wand and he has used it on you."

"Sure as you're born," declared the Rooster. "What shall I do?"

OREL DEVER FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

This primary campaign is nearing a close and it will be impossible for me to see all of the voters and talk to them and I wish to express my thanks to my supporters throughout the county for their interest in my behalf.

I am not asking the people for this office because I have held office at some previous time and claim they owe it to me, but because I am interested in an equitable distribution of the county funds and an economical expenditure of the same. The people are all taxpayers regardless of whether they own property or not for the ultimate consumer pays his share of the tax and should be interested in the office of Commissioner because of the control they have over the expenditure of the people's money.

If certain measures which will be before the voters in November pass their approval, there will be a vast expenditure of money in the next four years and the labor and business interests of this county should have the protection of the use of Scioto county products and Scioto county labor on this work, which they will get if I am elected Commissioner.

I have never held office of any kind and if nominated and elected will not be under the control of any person, political bodies or corporations.

Your support respectfully solicited.

Walter A. Finney

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR SHERIFF OF SCIOTO COUNTY

Everybody knows Walter A. Finney. He was born and reared in Scioto County, Ohio; is a son of Captain A. J. Finney former Clerk of Courts of this County and widely known to the people of Scioto County as a staunch Republican leader. Walter A. Finney has always been a Republican and never held any County office. In religion he is a Baptist. Walter A. Finney was at one time Constable under his father who was Justice of the Peace of the City of Portsmouth, and as Constable he has had experience in serving writs, making returns thereon and making arrests and in all arrests made by him not a single person was ever beaten or clubbed. However, Mr. Finney was courageous and firm but never bigoted or overbearing. His work was done with a smile.

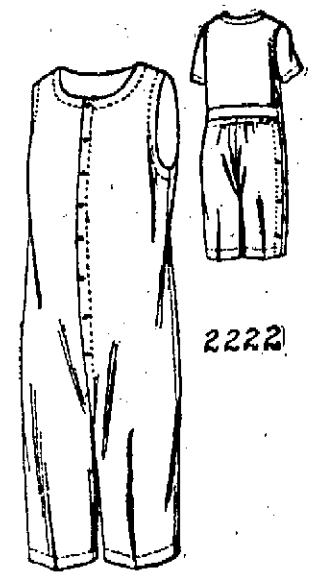

If Mr. Finney is nominated and elected Sheriff of Scioto County, all persons having business with him will always find him pleasant and courteous, and prisoners under his control will be properly fed and cared for. He promises enforcement of the law and efficient service in every respect. And now through the columns of The Morning Sun makes his appeal to the voters of Scioto County, many of whom he has seen personally to vote for him at the Primary, August 8th, 1922, assuring them that he feels confident that he will be nominated if his promised support will go to the polls next Tuesday, August the 8th.

Thanking everybody in advance for any support he may receive he confidently awaits the result of the primary.

Why Republicans Of This District Should Support Tom Jenkins For State Senator

A Waverly paper says that C. K. Patterson from Pike county should be renominated for his third term for the reason that they want to retain this important office in that end of the district because the greater population and greater industrial and agricultural activities are all in that end. Of course the Democrats all want C. K. Patterson renominated for his third term for they know he is the weakest candidate on the Republican ticket, and they know that he has established the reputation for himself as having been probably the only man that ever served two terms in the state senate without ever standing on his feet and facing the speaker on any proposition whatsoever. He would be easy for the Democrats. But what do you think of claiming that poor little Democratic Pike county should have a state senator over six big Republican counties? Everybody knows that Pike is the poorest county in the district from the standpoint of Republicanism. What do the voters of Scioto County think of this? She is a strong Republican county and has more Republican votes in one ward in Portsmouth than in the whole county of Pike. And besides they count them straight in Portsmouth. Then there is Lawrence county where the Republicans are about four to one to the Democrats and where every candidate gets a fair shake. How does Gallia county with her thousands of prosperous Republican farmers and business men feel about Pike county's claim? Then there is Meigs county where there are nearly as many people as Pike can boast of. Talk about great industrial activities. Pike county was never known as being great in anything but election board crookedness. Ironton is in the middle of the Republican stronghold of the district. Gallia and Meigs on the east, Jackson and Vinton on the north and Scioto on the west. Scioto county Republicans welcome the return of political relationship with Lawrence county. Thomas A. Jenkins of Lawrence county is the type of man needed for state senator. He is big enough for the district. He will pull for all the counties and not some little section. The state records will show that while Pike county is the poorest county in the district, she got by far more money in proportion for repair and maintenance of her roads during the past three years than did the large counties of Scioto and Lawrence. When Patterson advertises himself as a good roads man, he means that he was good to Pike county. Scioto county with five times the people and five times the tax duplicate should know these facts.—Ironton Register.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Each bid must contain the name of every person interested therein and must be accompanied by a sufficient guarantee by some disinterested person or persons in the sum of ten percent (10 per cent) of the amount bid, that if the bid is accepted a contract will be entered into and the performance of it properly secured, by bonds to be approved by the Board, in a sum equal to fifty (50 per cent) of the contract. Each bid must be marked on the outside of the envelope with the bidder's name and the kind of work bid upon. The said Board of Education reserves the right to reject any or all bids, or to waive defects should they deem it to the interest of said Board. By order of said Board of Education. BRINGING UP FATHER

BY McMANUS

Primary Election—A Parable

—BY—
JOHN COLLINS JACKSON

Now it came to pass in the second year of the reign of Warren G. Harding, whose surname was Harding, President of the United States of America, and in the reign of Harry who's surname was Davis, governor over the province of Ohio, that an election was to be held in the State called Ohio, in the eighth month, and on the eighth day of the month, between the hour of six of the clock in the forenoon and the hour of six of the clock in the afternoon. On that day, all men and all women who were one-score-and-one years old, or over were directed to go to the polling place of the precinct wherein they lived, and there deposit a ballot for the men or the women whom they would have to reign over them in the Senate of the United States of America, and in the House of Representatives of the Congress, and for Governor of the Province of Ohio, and for the scribe of the province of Ohio, and for the treasurer, and the general law-decider and the supreme law Judge, and for other offices of the entire State of Ohio, and also for the men or the women who should represent them in the law-making body of the province of Ohio, for the term of two years, and also for the men or women who were to be the officers of the law in the county of the State of Ohio, wherein they had taken up their abode.

Now one of the cities within the territory of Ohio was called Portsmouth, being at the mouth of the river called the Scioto, which cometh down from the North, and emptieth its waters into the great river, even the River called the Ohio, which floweth westward. Now Portsmouth was no mean city, for much people dwelt therein, even two-score thousand. Moreover it was also the capital of the County called Scioto, which is a goodly county of rich valleys and beautiful hills. Also there were divers other towns and villages in the county called Scioto county.

Now it had been the case that for many generations past, even from the days of their fore-fathers, the whole of the goodly land called America had been under the reign of King Alcohol, whose name was John Barleycorn. He did that which was evil in the sight of Jehovah, and was no friend to the people over whom he reigned. For he took their corn and their rye and their barley and their grapes and did cause them to rot, and to ferment whereby were produced liquids called whiskey, and beer, and wine. And then he did give other men who paid him for it, the right to sell these poisonous drinks to their fellowmen from places called saloons. And thousands of men and boys did "take this thief into their mouths, to steal their brains away," as said one wise man thousands of years ago. For when they drank this vile stuff it made their health bad, and often they could not work, and many of them failed to provide for their wives and their little ones, and some of these men went home to beat their wives and their children.

For many generations the signs and the cries and the tears and the prayers of these sufferers went up into the ears of the Lord God of Sabaoth. And at last it came to pass that Jehovah said unto his people, "Rise up now, and dethrone King Alcohol, even John Barleycorn, for you are well able to drive him out of the land which I gave unto your forefathers." And the people hearkened and heard the voice of Jehovah. And so year by year, for three-score years and more, they rose up against this evil King, and finally did drive him out of their several states, till all but two of the two-score-and-eight states did drive him from their borders.

Thus did they write it into the Constitution of their entire great Nation, which becometh like unto the laws of the Medes and Persians that changeth not. Then did the Congress of the two-score and eight States say that no one should make or sell to others for drink any liquid which when taken into their mouths would deal their brains away. Then did the brewers and the distillers quit making drinks which make drunk. Nevertheless some did not quit entirely, but would make and sell this drink secretly even as they had done under the reign of John Barleycorn, when brewers and distillers paid him, cause, and moonshiners did not. But henceforth there were no more open saloons to entice boys and men to drink, neither did those who drank dare to "treat" any longer, nor did those who sold it have the power to control conventions and elections as they did when Alcohol was King. And many who once were slaves of King Alcohol were now set free, and their wives and their children did rejoice and were happy.

But because there still were many bootleggers as they were called, notwithstanding the many others that were caught and fined or cast into jail, some said, "It would be better to have light wines and beers, which do not bite nor kick. We do not want the saloon to return, where once lived that which 'bieth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder,' we do not want any more snakes two-and-three-fourths feet long; all we ask is little, light snakes, two-and-three-fourths inches long." But the wise people said that the little snakes would soon grow silently and invisibly into large snakes, and that there would be more of them than when John Barleycorn paid for the privilege of putting snakes into men's boots.

Now Congress had the power to decide between these two sides. So each of them was anxious to elect men of their kind. One side said, "Let us have Dry men like St. Patrick, who drove the snakes out of Ireland." And the other side said, "Nay, but we will have Wet men for Congress who will kill the big snakes, but pet the little ones." Now most of the people did not like any kind of snakes, especially the women did not. But many of these same people said, "I am too busy to go to vote on Tuesday, August 8th." One said, "I must plow my corn, for the weeds are bad." And another said, "Mr. B. Atchelor, a friend of mine is to marry a wife that day, and I want to go to his wedding." And women said, "It is too hot to dress up and go to elections this time of year." And city men said, "Behold, business is business, and religion religion! I go to church on Sunday, but I must go away on business next Tuesday." And some preachers said, "Lo, I am off on my vacation, therefore I cannot come." So with one consent many made excuse.

But not so did the Wet men! They said, "It is now or never. Let business go; let weeds grow; don't mind your clothes; nor wedding-cheer; make sure of beer; for the time is here. If you wait a year, the Drys will be stronger, and we can hope no longer." So the Wets all went; and they cast a large vote and then were the Wets greatly encouraged, and said, "It shows the country is tired of prohibition." And thus they made it harder to enforce the laws of the land; and they encouraged disrespect for the Constitution, and disloyalty to the Government. And all of this came to pass because the Drys failed to vote, and the Wets did not.

Everybody admires and respects a live man with a stiff back-bone in the sheriff's office. Such a man causes criminals to hunt new pastures. The sheriff can make law enforcement effective in your county, or he can make it a farce. The kind of a man in the sheriff's office depends on the selection made by the voters. The time to make such selection is at the primaries, August 8. Take no chance, vote for Frank Bennett, he has been tried. His services as deputy qualify him in every way to fill the office as sheriff and guarantees law will be enforced without fear or favor.

FARMER—BUSINESS MAN

We are pleased to submit for your consideration the candidacy of C. K. Patterson for State Senator.

Mr. Patterson has served as Secretary of the Pike County Agricultural Society, on the Agricultural Committee and the Roads and Highways Committees of the Ohio Senate and a term on the State Board of Agriculture.

He is a diversified farmer being interested in livestock, fruits and grains.

As a member of the Grange, the Farm Bureau and the Good Roads Federation he is interested in the needs and requirements of the people of the 7-8th district and we feel that his experience and knowledge along these lines eminently qualify him for the position which he seeks.

Members of the Legion may feel sure that their interests will be his as during the World War his eighteen year old son saw twenty-four months service.

ADMISSION—ADULTS 50c; CHILDREN 25c.

Everybody's Goin'

The Lucasville Fair is an event in the lives of Southern Ohio people. It is an institution founded on merit and has grown with the years. The grounds are ideal, plenty of shade, pure, sparkling water, clean, sanitary surroundings—it's a place where we all go and have an enjoyable time. The crowds this year will surpass any year in the history of the exposition—the attractions will be the best, the exhibits the greatest—in fact it will be the biggest thing in this part of the grand old state.

Ideal Parking Conditions

The fair management has not spared expense in arranging parking places for the autos. A deep gravel road has been made and leads to the parking space, located on high, dry, well drained land. It is firm, solid ground which water will not phase. No danger of any machine being 'stuck' and so arranged to make exit as well as entrance easy. The fair management positively guarantees the parking arrangements. So bring your Jazbies, your Buicks, Studebakers, Oaklands, Maxwells, Dodges, Franklins, Paiges, Chandlers, Chalmers, Reos, Jordans, Packards, etc., etc., and have a lot of fun.

Daugherty Orders U. S. Marshal Devanney To Take Up Conditions At Portsmouth

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 5.—The policy of sending United States deputy marshals to points where strike troubles are reported threatening has been definitely adopted by Attorney General Daugherty, according to a telegram received by Marshal Devanney, Cincinnati, today.

The wire ordered him to investigate the situation at Bellefontaine, which is said to be critical, and determine how many extra men may be needed. He was also requested to confer with District Attorney Morrow and Judge Peck as to conditions there and at Portsmouth and Columbus to determine whether additional forces will be needed for the serving of injunction writs, should those now being asked be granted.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Aug. 5.—Federal Judge G. W. McClintock today issued a temporary injunction against strikers restraining them from interfering with the business or employees of the Norfolk and Western railroad. Similar injunctions were granted this week to the Virginian and the Chesapeake and Ohio roads.

Admits Theft Of Car; Bound Over

Admitting guilt of stealing a Ford automobile belonging to Maynard Worthington, 2524 Walnut street, on April 24 last, Robert H. Alberts, 23 years old, was held to the grand jury on a grand larceny charge by Judge McCall in Municipal court Saturday.

Alberts, who is also said to be a deserter from the army, was apprehended in Chillicothe and returned here last night. He was taken into custody by the Chillicothe authorities for larceny several days ago and the local police learning that he was attempting to dispose of a Ford machine to pay his fine, asked the Chillicothe officers for a description of the car, which proved to be the one stolen from Washington, Alberts. It is claimed by the police, enlisted in military service at Columbus Barracks on May 29, 1919, and deserted Feb. 21, 1921, leaving his station at Camp Dix, N. J. The prisoner was taken to the county jail in default of $500 bond.

Youth Tries To Hang Self; Rescued

Screams of frightened children when they saw the body of a man dangling from the end of a rope saved the life of Harry Meadows, aged 16, of 220 Second street, Saturday afternoon.

Their screams attracted Thomas Leighty, of 218 Second street, to the scene, and realizing the peril Meadows faced, he rushed into a nearby grocery store, grabbed a butcher knife and severed the rope to which Meadows was hanging three feet above the ground. His prompt work saved the young man's life.

Meadows refused to talk about his act when taken into his home. Relatives asserted that lack of employment had made him exceedingly nervous and attributed his attempt at self-destruction to nervousness.

Meadows tied a rope to one of the posts on his bed on the second floor of his home. He then leaped out of the window. When he did this his bed was drawn against the side of his room with considerable force and the crash attracted the attention of children near his home, and they gave the alarm.

Meadows is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Meadows, well known residents of the West Side. He was able to get around as usual shortly after he was rescued.

RUSSELL G. KETTER

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY RECORDER

Voters should exercise the same care in selecting officials to manage the public business that they would in selecting someone to manage their own affairs.

In conducting our own business we find our most valuable asset to be experience.

The EXPERIENCE gained by RUSSELL G. KETTER during the past 3 years, or since returning from service overseas in 1919, as Deputy in the office of the County Recorder well qualifies him to capably discharge the duties incumbent upon the COUNTY RECORDER.

He earnestly solicits your support at the Primaries August 8.

The Great Problem of the Age--The Man Who Can Solve it in Ohio

The most serious characteristic of the age is the great, ever growing conflict between industry and finance, between corporations and organized labor. Beside it, all other difficulties of the people are dwarfed. In no man's land, between the fires, the general public, including millions who are involved, farmers, workmen, professional men, innocent women and children and others, become helpless victims of the gigantic struggle of the corporations and union labor.

While the candidates for governor in Ohio howl for public efficiency; acclaim against the public utilities commission; talk about lower taxes and other political bunk, including their own mud slinging, the people are turned away from the great problem that confronts us in Ohio which affects every man, woman and child in this great commonwealth, involving untold losses and misery.

Ohio needs a governor who can bring industrial peace. Ohio needs a governor in whom labor has confidence; a governor from whom the corporation may expect absolute justice, Ohio needs a great conciliator, a man who understands the problem of capital and labor and who has proven his ability in such endeavor.

Fortunately, Ohio has just such a man. He is a candidate for Governor. This man commands the faith of the workman and the respect of the corporation. T. J. Duffy, one of the originators of that wonderful plan of corporate-employee co-operation, the Workmen's compensation Act, and at present chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission is the only candidate of either party who has the qualifications, the courage and the respect of both sides, to make Ohio a peaceful prosperous state in which to live during the next few years. Lawyers, auditors, secretaries, judges, politicians, seek the place of governor, none of whom have met or lived with the one great problem which has cursed this great State during the past decade and will continue to do so unless a man takes the wheel and guides it to safety.

Compared to the puny issues brought forth by the candidates in Ohio the problem of industrial peace is as a mountain to a mole hill. The suffering women and children know what is the subject nearest to their hearts. And the corporation facing its enormous losses knows that industrial peace is almost priceless.

Vote for T. J. Duffy and Peace in Ohio.

FRANK J. DUPLAIN, Chairman of Scioto County Duffy Boosters.

Leonard And Hammer In Ring At 6:00 P. M.

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., Aug. 5.—(By The Associated Press)—This little city today was on the boxing map for the second time within a month. Benny Leonard, world's lightweight champion, will defend his title in a ten-round no-decision bout this afternoon against Ever Hammer, a rugged aggressive Chicago lightweight. They will meet at catch weights and to take the championship Hammer must score a knockout or be fouled by Leonard.

Hammer recently has scored a sensational come-back after eighteen months absence from the ring. He recently has earned newspaper decisions over Richie Mitchell of Milwaukee and Charlie White of Chicago. Leonard is a strong favorite to win. They met in 1916 before Henry had acquired the championship from Freddie Welsh, and Hammer gave Leonard a hard fight, twelve rounds before Hammer's handlers stopped the bout after he had been floored.

Indications early today were that the gate receipts would reach between $25,000 and $30,000.

Three preliminaries will precede the Leonard-Hammer contest and indications are they will get into action about 6 p. m. central standard time.

St. Louis Teams Are Leading

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—St. Louis teams today were leading the major league baseball races.

The Cardinals by taking the second straight victory from the Phillies 9-7 ascended to the top when McGraw's Giants split a twin bill with the Cubs. The Browns in a game of 25 hits 15 of which were for extra bases, defeated the Athletics 9-4, and maintained their one game lead over the Yankees, who with Ruth's nineteenth home run of the season, were victorious over the Indians.

Two former Boston hurlers, Hugh McQuillan and John Scott, hurled for the Giants in the two games against the Cubs. McQuillan, held up by brilliant support for eight innings, became too generous in the ninth and the Cubs, with three runs, won 3-2. Scott held the Cubs to seven hits in the second game, winning 2-1 over the veteran Alexander.

Babe Adams allowed three hits in eight innings to Brave batteries and the Pirates won 3-0. Rain saved the game for Adams in the ninth after Powell had hit a home run and two men, with a single and a double, rested on second and third with two out. But then the game reverted to the eighth. The Brooklyn club lost a heavy-hitting affair to the Reds, 6 to 5.

Cobb's Tigers, with Dams hurling well, defeated the Red Sox 2-0. It was Detroit's eighth straight victory. Washington won its third straight from the White Sox 3-2. Zachary allowing the Chicagoans but five hits.

Do not vote for a man for State Senator who will make a society vacation out of it for himself and his family. This job needs a hustler such as Tom Jenkins.

Former Star Dies

BOSTON, Aug. 5.—Thomas P. McCarthy, former major league star, known to baseball fandom of other days as one of the "heavenly twins," died at his home here early today. The other twin, Hugh Duffy, now is manager of the Boston Americans.

From 1887 to 1891, McCarthy played the outfield for the St. Louis Browns in the old American Association under Charley Comiskey. It was a member of the famous old Boston Red Stocking champions from 1891 to 1895 that he gained his greatest fame. McCarthy was regarded as one of the heaviest hitters and fastest fielding players of his day.

Following his transfer from Boston to Brooklyn in 1896, he retired to go into business here. McCarthy subsequently coached the Dartmouth, Holy Cross and Boston college teams.

While at Holy Cross he developed Bill Carrigan, advising the change which made him a catcher instead of an outfielder and advised Jack Barry to relinquish his hopes of becoming a pitcher to play shortstop.

Oh, Hum! Cardinals Are In First Place

Branch Rickey's St. Louis Cards were roosting on the top rung of the National league ladder Saturday by virtue of their victory over the lowly Phils yesterday while the New York Giants were breaking even in a double-header with the Cubs.

The St. Louis crowd has a lead of but two points in the percentage table and must continue the fast pace in order to maintain their proud position out in front, unless the World's Champions continue on the tohogogan.

The victory turned in by John Scott, former Boston and Cincinnati pitcher, for the Giants yesterday was a big surprise to the fans as it was believed that his pitching days were over when he was turned adrift by Pat Moran a short time ago.

FIRPO MATCHED

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 5.—Louis Angel Firpo, heavyweight champion of South America, will meet Jim Tracy, Australian champion, here on October 8. It was announced today by Jose Agusti, boxing promoter. The bout will be of 15-rounds with six ounce gloves.

The promoter hopes to arrange a match in this city between Bill Brown and Firpo for next March.

A Straight From The Shoulder Statement

ROSCOE MAULL

Republican Candidate For Office Of
SHERIFF OF SCIOTO COUNTY

Owing to the fact that my good wife has been ill for the past seven weeks, requiring my attention most of the time and thus preventing me seeing as many voters as I had planned, I take this opportunity to thank those who have in any way contributed to the success of my campaign and assure all that it will be my duty should I win to give the people a good account of my stewardship.

First, if elected, I will not ask for an army of deputies—but will conduct the affairs of the office with the assistance of not more than two deputies. I believe the rights of the tax-payers should be safeguarded, and will not attempt to surround myself with a gang of eight to ten deputies.

If I am successful I assure the people that they are welcome to visit my office at any time, and I promise them they will never find me or my deputies under the influence of liquor.

Be wise, Mr. Voter, and cast your ballot for Mr. Maull at next Tuesday's primary.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MONTGOMERY

NEW YORK, August 5.—There is a bewitching beauty about Coney Island at night with the millions of lights tracing the ferris wheels, carousels and stucco minarets and towers. All the showy tawdriness is blotted out and Coney becomes a dazzling fairland of light and gaiety.

When the moon rides high the white sand of the beach gives off a phosphorescent glow and there is a magic charm to the sapphire splendor of the sea. Coney's chief asset, however, is the thrills it furnishes to the weary cliff dwellers.

Timid folk shed their inhibitions and flock to the death-defying thrills with fever bright eyes. The average daily half million attendance furnishes material for thought for psychologists who prattle of the repression and the complex. The weakling becomes a dare-devil and the stern business man a prankish boy.

On Surf Avenue is a booth filled with shelves of china. "Don't break up your own home. Break up ours," shouts the ballyhoo, and for 10 cents one may have the barbaric pleasure of smashing dishes with wooden balls. It is the haunt of a well known captain of flunners.

Perhaps the most popular amusement at Coney is the Steeplechase—a contrivance that sends mechanical horses racing around grooved tracks. No one knows who will win—not even the concessionaire, for it is so arranged that horses will shoot forward and fall back unexpectedly.

The dips of death are breath-taking. On one the patron is fastened in a barrel and whirled up and down a dizzy slide, over a cliff and on to a spring board where he is catapulted merrily into a huge pool. It is a thrill even for the spectators.

The slides, human roulette wheels and bump-the-bumps throw their human loads into the air with whoops of joy and the rush of Niagara. Nobody cares about dignity. The brakes of convention are off. Coney Island is the hoop-la spirit carried to its zenith.

In the Times Square district is a hotel that is patronized chiefly by the Tenderloin herd that lives by its wiles—confidence men, wire tappers, sellers of spurious stock and the like. The management takes no chances. Each guest must pay daily in advance for his room and tickets are sold for the meals. It is about the only hotel in town that hasn't a telephone in every room. There is a locked entrance about the clerks and the West Indian hall and elevator boys. One feels that the Damascus sword is likely to fall any second. No one seems to be up until noon and then they scurry through the lobby and out to neighborhood telephone booths.

There is a young man of social standing whose family fortunes have reached the point where he must go to work. He has opened an office in a mid-town office building and launched a new profession. He calls himself a "Fashion Adviser" and his clientele is among those in society and out who wish to be advised as to the latest styles in men's dress. He sends out a weekly mimeographed letter explaining the newest things sartorial. He also keeps in touch with the smartest shops and tells his clients of the latest offerings. It is said that he has started off with a very brisk business.

The Bridge of Sighs that runs from the Criminal Courts Building to the Tombs is being scrubbed and cleaned. It is the gloomiest pile of brick and stone in all New York. There is a man who moved to Franklin Street recently but because he had to pass the bridge daily on his way to work, sold his house at half the purchase price.

The clouds that cover the sunshine They cannot banish the sun, And the earth shines out the brighter When the weary rain is done. We must stand in the deepest shadow To see the clearest light; And often thru wrong's own darkness Comes the buoyant strength of right.

SAUL'S JEALOUSY

DAVID took to Saul the head of Goliath. Saul would not let him return to his father's house. When Jonathan (Saul's son) saw David he loved him greatly. David went about with Saul and was accepted by the people. The women came to meet him, singing and dancing and praising David. This displeased Saul and the evil spirit came upon him and David played to him. Saul cast a javelin at David, intending to kill him. David avoided it. Saul was afraid, for he knew the Lord was with David and he sent him from him and made him captain over a thousand.

Storm Does Heavy Damage

A severe rain storm and small-sized cyclone visited Churn Creek hollow, Adams county, northwest of Buena Vista, several days ago and caused great damage to crops and property on one or two farms in the hollow.

John Staten of Churn Creek was in the city Friday and while here told of the severe storm that made a wreck of the John B. Young farm where he resides. On the Young farm a large tobacco barn was blown down, large timbers being broken when the building was blown to pieces. Large apple trees and other fruit trees were blown down with considerable fruit, the fruit crop on the large farm being a total loss. Heavy hail that accompanied the rain and wind riddled considerable corn, tobacco and tomatoes on the same farm. Small buildings on the David Housecherner farm nearby were destroyed and crops badly damaged.

According to Mr. Staten, observers say the cyclone was funnel-shaped, and although it traveled a narrow path, it was very destructive. William Carter of Sunshine Ridge, just across the hill from Churn Creek valley, also suffered a loss, his crops being damaged by wind and hail.

X A. C. FROWINE

COMMISSIONER

Experience should count for a whole lot in the selection of your candidate for County Commissioner. A. C. Frowine is regarded as one of the most successful contractors in the city of Portsmouth. He has erected many substantial buildings—he knows what masonry is, what a foundation should be—he knows materials from A to Z—no one can fool him as to quality—and that is worth a whole lot to the tax-payers.

Mr. Frowine is a real road builder, and it is generally admitted that some of the roads in Scioto county are in terrible shape. Enough money has been expended in road repair work to pave every road in the county. Mr. Frowine will see that roads are built to stay built—that your money will not be thrown into chuch holes to disappear with every change in the moon—He is a real Republican—a hale fellow well met and you are always assured of a courteous hearing should you have any business dealings with him.
